

Who are we?

The greater number of the INGOs that belong to the G3i have participative status at the Council of Europe. This is granted to an International NGO by the Committee of Ministers on the proposal of the Secretary General and with the advice of the INGO division with the agreement of the Permanent Commission of the INGO Conference.

The status is granted following a procedure of which the criteria are clearly defined.

Colloquy in the Council of Europe 24 January 2012

The G3i organised a colloquy on "Becoming citizens of a plural Europe: interconvictional Spaces and Practice."

The colloquy addressed:

- the democratic process,
- the presence of citizens,
- their contribution to political debate,
- their right to be heard.

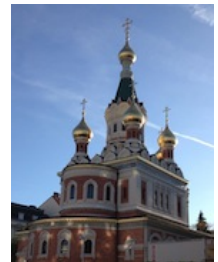

Experience shows that the greater part of the processes of decision making are initiated at the head, often without a direct relationship to what happens at the grass roots. This produces a situation in which people are ill at ease with regard to Europe, with the result that it militates against awareness of European citizenship and leads to a gap between those who make decisions and the grass roots of society.

That is why essential objectives of the study day in January 2012 were :

- 1) to think about how citizens can take part in discussion that lead to decision at the European level ;
- 2) to think about conditions that can give priority to this involvement, in particular for the development and nature of interconvictional and laïque spaces that contribute to the development of European citizenship and that facilitate the development the expression and the process of listening to convictions, especially those that have been thought out interconvictionally.

Groupe International Interculturel et International G3i

Unconditional Meeting in the Greater Europe

The aims of the G3i

The aim of the group is to work for the development of European Citizenship. It is in favour of a threefold dialogue :

- international, between all the peoples of Europe,
- intercultural, between all kinds of culture,
- interconvictionnal, between atheist and religious convictions.

With this in view, the G3i has Contributed to the White Paper on Intercultural Dialogue, in particular in relation to the inconviictional dimension.

Organised in October 2007, together with the Council of Europe, a colloquy on the theme "Social Cohesion in a mutlicultural Europe, the role and impact of the currents of thought and religons." The record has been published.

Been inviged to the Euroepan Colloquy "Laïcité and Human Rights" organised in the European Commisison building in Brussels by the European Humanist Federation on 16 April 2008.

Been invited to the conference debate organised in the European Parliament in March 2009 on "Laïcité in the European Union" to poresent its vision based on inteconvictional experience and its work in the Council of Europe. The record of the colloquy has recently been published.

Oorganised on 2' JJanuary 2012 a study day with the support of the General Directorate of programmes in the Council of Europe on the theme "Becoming citizens of a plural Europe : interconvictional spaces and practice," of which the record is being prepared.

Recent Contributions

Three members of the G3I were invited to the

The Council of Europe's Exchange 2012 on the Religious Dimension of Intercultural Dialogue:

"Taking responsibility for tomorrow's Europe: the role of young people in the religious dimension of intercultural dialogue."

Striking aspects were the return of religion to Albania, the construction of beautiful churches, the reopening of Mosques and religious harmony. Albania was the only atheist state in Europe.

We noticed the open spirit of young people together with the desire of the participants to listen and to meet one another.

Apart from the representation of religious traditions the exchange was an opportunity to work with our friends and colleagues whose non religious convictions enrich European thought and dialogue.

The G3i emphasises the fundamental importance of the interconvictional.
